

TASTING NOTE from the Curators of Classic Wine

UNWOODED CHARDONNAY 2017

Glen Carlou is synonymous with Chardonnay, having successfully made two wooded Chardonnay styles for almost 25 years - our Classic Chardonnay and our single vineyard Quartz Stone Chardonnay. We felt it was a natural progression to make a small trial batch of an Unwooded Chardonnay in 2011. Johnnie fermented the wine in specially formulated cement egg shaped tank which we import from France.

These specialized concrete tanks offer excellent thermal inertia, as well as controlled micro-oxidation, and are of course flavour neutral and durable. In effect, they offer a combination of some of the best qualities of stainless steel and wooden tanks. Wines fermented in concrete display more weight, fruit intensity and minerality than the same wines aged in stainless steel or plastic.

The Nomblot Egg's porous clay-cement walls allow for natural oxygenation without oakiness. The tank's most surprising benefit may well lie in its shape. All fluids rise when temperature increases, and do so in a vortex, however in a barrel or other container, the vortex is slowed by the angles. Within the angle free Egg the vortex turns naturally for weeks, which raises the lees, and nourishes the wine.

Winemaker's Note

A bright and clear Unwooded Chardonnay with mineral, peach and floral tones combined with lemon and pineapple aplenty. This wine gives a fresh and clean first impression, with well balanced acidity and rounded out in the palate with a crisp finish.
